CAREER OBJECTIVE

With a first degree in Philosophy and hands on experiences in the oil & gas servicing industry, particularly in areas of project management, procurement activities (including bid preparation), office management, secretariat duties and creative and analytic writing, I consider myself as having the necessary requisites for this position.

I have worked as a development strategist in various subsectors of the oil & gas industry, gaining first-hand experiences in dealing with complex issues and organizational growth. I have equally been engaged in the public sector (advocacy). My engagement in these sectors have broadened my understanding of the Nigerian socio-economic environment and has equipped me to take up similar responsibilities in other industries.

I am a graduate member of the Nigerian Institute of Management (NIM).

I have had impressive work experience in office and project site environments and in dealing with people of various cultures. This has further broadened my understanding of work & social cultures and my ability to work with different kind of people. With my wealth of experience and education, I believe I could fit easily into the team. My final objective is to become a successful team player.
